As International Sustainable Development Major, you are required to take at least 3 credits of internship relevant to your academic and career goals. Interns work in public and private sectors as well as local, national, and international non-profit organizations. Students are encouraged to complete their internship experience during their junior or senior year.

Criteria:

- An internship setting and activities performed must be in the development field but can be in a variety of organizational types.
- Your work must be overseen by an on-site supervisor.
- You must meet with your on-site supervisor periodically throughout the internship.
- Your supervisor must agree to provide ongoing formative evaluations and a formal final evaluation of your work.
- The site must provide at least five hours of experiential learning per week and at least 50 hours during the quarter for one-credit.
